Child Crisis Center Receives Grant from Target for Target Family Festival

[MESA, ARIZONA] (JANUARY 22, 2009) — The Family Resource Center, a project of the Child Crisis Center, today announced a partnership with Target® in support of its efforts to build stronger families and a healthier community. The grant received from Target will support the Target Family Festival.

The Target Family Festival is scheduled for Saturday, April 25, 2009 from 10:00 am to 1:00 pm and will take place at Pioneer Park in Mesa. Nearly 1,000 people are expected to attend the festival including children and families served by the Child Crisis Center and the Family Resource Center. The festival is open to the public and is free to attend. The event will include carnival games, inflatables, music, food, field games, craft projects, and raffles.

This grant is part of ongoing efforts by Target to strengthen families and communities throughout the country. Since opening its doors, Target has given 5 percent of its income to organizations that support education, the arts, social services and volunteerism. Today that translates to more than $3 million every week.

“At Target, our local grants are making a difference in the communities we serve,” said Laysha Ward, vice president, community relations, Target. “We’re proud to partner with Child Crisis Center as part of our ongoing commitment to give back to the communities where our guests and team members live and work.”

Additionally, Target gives through signature programs that are designed to inspire learning in children and families. Programs include:

- Take Charge of Education[®], a school fundraising program;
- Target Field Trip Grants, a program that helps educators bring learning to life for students through the distribution of grants;
- Ready.Sit.Read!, a program dedicated to fostering a lifelong love of reading in children at an early age;
- Target House[®], which serves as a home away from home for families of children receiving life-saving treatment at St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital[®] in Memphis;
- Target Volunteers, a program where Target team members and retirees annually donate more than 350,000 hours of time to more than 7,500 community-based projects

About Child Crisis Center

The Child Crisis Center began as a small, grassroots 7 bed emergency shelter for abused children 28 years ago and has grown into a 42 bed emergency shelter, committed to preventing and treating child abuse through a myriad of activities. It has sheltered over 12,000 children; not only providing a warm, loving, safe environment for children removed from their homes by the state, but also to children from any home in the community where parents or guardians are in need of safe-haven for their children while working to get their lives back on track. The Child Crisis Center also operates free family support classes in both English and Spanish, family & child counseling services, and foster care and adoption services; it is truly committed to breaking the cycle of child abuse, and strengthening families and children in our community.
